The house cleared the way today
for consideration of broad legislation to curb industrial strife.
On a roll call vote, the members decdied to begin debate at once on the bill by Rep. Case (R-S) to con-trol strikes.

The measure is a substitute for fact-finding legislation asked by President Truman. It is backed by a powerful coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The vote was 258 to 114.

Voting to take up the bill were 153 Republicans and 105 Democrats, mostly Southerners, Against it were 97 Democrats, 15 Republicans and both minor party niem immediately but a final vote is not expected until at least Saturday and probably not until next week. However, house leaders, who asked not to be named, predicted to newsmen that today's vote meant the Case substitute will be approved

The CIO-Steelworkers' chief told reporters he had discussed his contention that tax law provisions for rebates from excess profit taxes give the corporations an advantage in strike situations like that now in progress in the steel industry.

A U. S. Steel official last week said Murray misstated the facts.

Murray would not comment further.

There was no comment from Vinson.

Early this week Vinson declined to say whether he had conference with Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, who was here on an undisclosed mission.

In a round-robin letter made public by Rep. Hook (D-Mich) 40 house members urged the General Motors Corporation to accept a fact-finding board's recommendation and U. S. Steel to agree to the wage proposal advanced by President Trumary Newly-Weds Aboard.

Eighteen passengers and a crew of three were aboard the two-engine Douglas transport and of the passengers 12 were army personnel, being re-deployed from the Pacific Coast. Among the civilian passengers were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bender of Shef-Meld, Ill., who were married Monday at Twin Falls, Ida.

The accident, first fatal mishap on United Air Lines in almost four years, probably occurred around 3 a. m. (Mountain Standard Time.)

In charge of the plane was Captain Walter P. Briggs, veteran in Portland, Ore. Harry M. Atlas, also of Portland, was the first officer and the stewardess was Dorothy Jean Carter of Portland.

Passengers Are Listed.
Civilian passengers in addition to the Benders, as announcer here by UAL were:

Wimberly Asks Names Hill said he hoped "that will be the attitude of all members of the commission."

Earlier Wimberly had asked Hill to be explicit in naming those responsible for what Hill described as steps toward federal control of production.

Hill promised that he would give the details later in his testimony. Charles I. Francis, special counsel appearing for the state of Texas, interposed the statement that Texas winesses were striking at the group responsible for the naresources committee's pamphlet, "Our Energy Resources," published in 1939.

Called "Master Plan" Hill described this pamphlet as up a "Master Plan" by which "end-use control of any energy source is the key instrument, the omnipotent instrument of national control."

Hill's testimony was based on the contention that the entrance of the Federal Government into the end-use of petroleum resources by the government is a step tosuch as is found in Russia and was found in Germany and Italy before the end of the war."

n.ended the action of the house military affairs committee in asking the war department for a full report on the 36th Division's Rapido river battle in Italy.

Speaking on the floor of the house Rep. Fritz Lanham said:

"No braver boys and no more loyal Americans ever lived than those who were called upon to make the supreme sacrifice in this lamentable episode of the recent war. It seems evident that someone blundered. The responsibility should be determined."

Frances Weedin were welcomed as new members into the club. Incomplete for the subject for the neturn on the study was "The Royal Family was "The Royal Family of England" and most interesting and informative portrapies of the subject for the neturn of the subject for the neture for under subject for the subject for should be determined.'

Rep. Luther Johnson said he Mary Ellen Sutton most serious consideration.

Rep. Albert Thomas, a member of the military committee, said the committee would give the closest study to the war department report, then determine whether an investigation is warranted.

more tender than comparable unfrozen beef, she said. The usual freezing temperatures now in use are from zero to 10 degrees.

Miss Sneed explained regent findings of the U. S. department of agriculture research workers which showed that beef frozen at 114 degrees below zero was imperent more tender than unfrozen beef by pointaing out that the increased tenderness was due to action of ice crystals.

In slow freezing at 18 degrees large ice crystals form between the muscle fibers. These draw water from the fibers out of shape without breaking them.

In fast freezing at 10 degrees, smaller crystals form within the crystals because there is not time for the water to be drawn cut. As they form, the crystals break he fibers.

The lower the temperature and the faster the freezing, the more small crystals form within the fibers and the more the fibers reak, Miss Sneed said.

At 114 degrees below zero the reezing is so rapid that nearly very fiber in the meat splits.

FORMER NON-COMS

Under a new war department

Under a new war department policy, former non-commissioned officers may now re-enlist and retain their rank in the regular army at any time within three months after release from active duty. Capt. William W. Hogewood, Corsicana recruiting office, announced Wednesday.

The previous policy, now rescinded, required former atmy noncoms to re-enlist within 20 days after discharge and before Jan. 31. Now dischargees are permitted 90 days in which to decide upon return to active duty without loss of rank. This offer, however, expires next June 30.

The new 90-day policy also applies to the automatic promotion of former army privates to the grade of private first class, if such applicants for re-enlistment have previously served six months of active duty.

After June 30 the army will again revert to the 20-day dead-line for re-enlistment with retention of previously held rank, the announcement said.
